Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or Spanish. The text is dense and covers most of the page, with some ink bleed-through from the reverse side. The script is a cursive hand, possibly a Gothic or similar medieval style. The text is arranged in approximately 20 lines, though some are obscured by a large tear at the bottom left of the page. The ink is dark, and the parchment shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, appearing to be a separate entry or a continuation of the text above. It is also in a medieval script and is partially obscured by the tear in the paper. The text is less dense than the main body of the page.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or French, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and some fading. It appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a charter or a record of a transaction. The text is written in a single column and is surrounded by a decorative border.
